Recipes for the ROAD

The National Highway Traffic Administration recommends following the number one rule for traffic safety, on Valentine's Day and every day: slow down and stay alert!

- Many different types of crashes are often caused by rushing, not paying attention, and not properly following traffic safety laws.
- When motorists are rushing and/or distracted, they tend to make errors and decisions that increase the chance of injury.
- Remember to slow down and stay alert this Valentine's Day! We know you want to be with your special someone, please slow down and get there safely.
